

8. Disaster Program

My home was located in an eligible Disaster area as determined by MaineHousing and was destroyed beyond repair during an approved Disaster event:

AND

I have provided the lender with written evidence from an independent verifying agency that the home was destroyed or damaged to such an extent that purchase of another residence is necessary.

9. The Residence is located in a Targeted Area.

INCOME RECERTIFICATION

10. This certification is required for all loan applications in process longer than four months. If this loan did not close within four months of the date of application, I hereby certify that my yearly gross household income is now $_____ and I certify that my gross household income is within the program income limits.

NEW MORTGAGE REQUIREMENT

11. No part of the proceeds of the Mortgage Loan will be used directly or indirectly to repay an existing loan made in connection with the Residence, except construction loans, bridge loans or similar temporary initial financing having a term of 24 months or less.

RECAPTURE TAX AND THE RECAPTURE TAX REIMBURSEMENT PROGRAM

12. This Mortgage Loan is being financed with the proceeds of tax-exempt bonds. Because of this, I acknowledge that I am subject to certain restrictions regarding my home. The Internal Revenue Code states that I may be affected by a federal tax known as Recapture. Recapture only applies if I sell my home within 9 years at a gain, and if my income increases above specified levels. The recapture tax will require some homeowners who dispose of their homes within nine years of loan closing to pay a portion of the profit they receive from the sale to the federal government. The maximum amount payable would be either 6.25 percent of my original mortgage amount or 50 percent of the profit resulting from the sale of my home, whichever is less.

13. Recapture Reimbursement: If my Mortgage Loan closed after January 1, 2013 and my MaineHousing loan remains outstanding when I dispose of the Residence, MaineHousing will reimburse me for any recapture tax that I pay to the IRS. To be reimbursed, I must submit the MaineHousing Request for Recapture Tax Reimbursement form, a copy of my tax return including IRS Form 8828, proof the federal taxes were paid, and a copy of the Closing Disclosure pertaining to the disposition of the property to the Maine State Housing Authority.

I understand that I am responsible for calculating, filing and paying any recapture tax that may be due the IRS. I am also responsible for initiating and fully complying with Maine State Housing Authority's Request for Recapture Tax Reimbursement procedures when seeking reimbursement.

APPENDIX A

NOTICE OF MAXIMUM RECAPTURE TAX AND METHOD TO COMPUTE RECAPTURE TAX ON SALE OF HOME. When I sell my home I may have to pay a recapture tax as calculated below. The tax may also apply if I dispose of my home in some other way. Any references in this notice to the "sale" of my home also include other ways of disposing of my home. For instance, I may owe the recapture tax if I give my home to a relative. In the following situations, no recapture tax is due and I do not need to do the calculations:

- (a) My gross household income for the taxable year, as shown in my federal income tax return, falls within the qualified income range of the region in which my home is located for the year in which I sell my home. The qualified income ranges are listed on page 9 of the Borrower Affidavit and must be the version provided at closing.
- (b) I dispose of my home later than nine years after I close my loan;
- (c) I dispose of my home at a loss;
- (d) My home is disposed of as a result of my death; or
- (e) I transfer my home either to my spouse or to my former spouse incident to divorce and I have no gain or loss included in my income under Section 1041 of the Internal Revenue Code.

MAXIMUM RECAPTURE TAX; The maximum recapture tax that I may be required to pay as an addition to my federal income tax is 6.25% of the highest principal amount of my mortgage loan and is my federally subsidized amount with respect to the loan.

ACTUAL RECAPTURE TAX; The actual recapture tax, if any, can only be determined when I sell my home, and is the lesser of (1) 50% of my gain on the sale of my home, regardless of whether I have to include that gain in my income for federal income tax purposes, or (2) my RECAPTURE AMOUNT determined by multiplying the following three numbers:

- (a) The maximum recapture tax (6.25% of the highest principal amount).
- (b) The HOLDING PERIOD PERCENTAGE, as listed in Column 1 in the Chart attached to this notice; and
- (c) The INCOME PERCENTAGE, is calculated by subtracting the applicable ADJUSTED QUALIFYING INCOME in the taxable year in which I sell my home (as listed in Column 2 in the appropriate Table for the Region where my home is located) from my MODIFIED ADJUSTED GROSS INCOME in the taxable year in which I sell my home.

My MODIFIED ADJUSTED GROSS INCOME means my adjusted gross income shown in my federal income tax return for the taxable year in which I sell my home, with the following two adjustments: (a) my adjusted gross income must be INCREASED by the amount of any interest that I receive or accrue in the taxable year from tax-exempt bonds that is excluded from my gross income (under section 103 of the Internal Revenue Code); and (b) my adjusted gross income must be DECREASED by the amount of any gain included in my gross income by reason of the sale of my home.

If the amount calculated is zero or less, I owe no recapture tax and do not need to make any more calculations. If it is $5,000 or more, my income percentage is 100%. If it is greater than zero but less than $5,000, it must be divided by $5,000. This fraction, expressed as a Percentage, represents my income percentage. For example, if the fraction is $1,000/$5,000, my income percentage is 20%.

LIMITATIONS AND SPECIAL RULES ON RECAPTURE TAX.

- (a) If I give away my home (other than to my spouse or ex-spouse incident to divorce), I must determine my actual recapture tax as if I had sold my home for its fair market value.
- (b) If my home is destroyed by fire, storm, flood, or other casualty, there generally is no recapture tax if, within two years, I purchase additional property for use as my principal residence on the site of the home financed with my original subsidized mortgage loan.
- (c) In general, except as provided in future regulations, if two or more persons own a home and are jointly liable for the subsidized mortgage loan, the actual recapture tax is determined separately for them based on their interests in the home.
- (d) If I repay my loan in full during the nine year recapture period and I sell my home during this period, my holding period percentage may be reduced under the special rule in section 143(m)(4)(C)(ii) of the Internal Revenue Code.
- (e) Other special rules may apply in particular circumstances. I may wish to consult with a tax advisor or the local office of the Internal Revenue Service when I sell or otherwise dispose of my home to determine the amount, if any, of my actual recapture tax. See Section 143(m) of the Internal Revenue Code generally.

IRS FORM 8828; I understand that the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) has created Form 8828 for purposes of calculating the recapture tax. This form will be updated each tax year and must be filed with my tax return for the year in which I sell or otherwise dispose of my home (if the nine year recapture period has not yet expired) regardless of whether any tax is actually due. Copies of Form 8828 and instructions can be obtained through my local IRS office.
